

Girl Mother

Among those who took the floor at the Second National Conference of Exemplary Young People of Virtue held in May Juche 104 (2015), there was a 20-year-old girl from Kangson.

While meeting the exemplary young people before the photo session, Kim Jong Un, General Secretary of the Workers' Party of Korea, warmly shook her hand and highly praised her for raising seven orphans, saying she was a "girl mother."

And in the letter of thanks to the Workers' Party of Korea and youth league organizations that trained young people into the vanguard of the era possessed of ennobling spirit and virtues, he wrote:

In particular, the laudable deeds of the 20-year-old "girl mother," who is looking after seven orphans with maternal affection in the prime of her life, move all the people.

When visiting the newly-built Youth Movement Museum, he said, in front of a photo he had taken with the participants of the Second National Conference of Exemplary Young People of Virtue, that he could not forget the day when he met the "girl mother" and that it was necessary to encourage young people to emulate her.

Thanks to the Party's policy of attaching importance to young people, the ranks of young people, who possess pure loyalty and beautiful traits, are increasing in the great socialist flower garden.
