

Great Encouragement

One November day in 2014, the respected Comrade Kim Jong Un visited a factory.

Highly appreciating the art group members of the factory for giving an excellent performance, he said: Each number of the performance reflects the policies of the Workers' Party of Korea and overflows with their love for the factory. It is not only high in ideological and artistic quality but represents the revolutionary character of the workers of the factory to become standard-bearers and a shock brigade in the drive to carry out the Party's lines and policies.

The officials were excited to hear his high praise.

Kim Jong Un said: I am happy to look round the modernized factory, but I am more pleased to see the ideological and spiritual traits of workers who are firmly armed with the Juche idea. I have felt great confidence and encouragement, read their determination to share their destiny with the Party. I have been convinced once again that I can overcome any difficulties as we have such reliable workers.

His appreciation represented his great trust in the workers who stand in the vanguard of working miracles and achieve feats, cherishing unfailing loyalty to the WPK as their faith.

Greatly excited by his praise, the officials exclaimed to themselves that his great trust is the source of nutrients for our workers to work miracles and achieve feats.
