

A Song Tells a Story

The following happened when the song We Will Go to Mt Paektu, which inspires the Korean people with confidence in sure victory, was created.

One day, the respected Comrade Kim Jong Un met officials and said: This song is a good one encouraging young people of the new generation to have the “feel” of the blizzards of Mt Paektu, arm themselves with the revolutionary spirit of Paektu and take the lead in the grand struggle to carry forward and accomplish the revolutionary cause of Juche generation after generation.

The moment the officials remembered the meaningful words he had said before:

Only when one climbs Mt Paektu in the midst of a blinding snowstorm to experience the blizzards of Paektu at first hand, can one appreciate the real “feel” and attraction of the mountain and harden one’s determination to carry out the Korean revolution.

As he regarded Mt Paektu as a school of the revolution, he, some days later, stressed once again that it was a good song which not only young people but all other people should sing widely, adding that when they sang it, they would miss Mt Paektu, the sacred mountain of the Korean revolution and their spiritual home, and they would be imbued with the mettle and spirit of Paektu.

Endless streams of the Korean people, who cherish in their minds the noble intention of the peerlessly great man, go to Mt Paektu, singing the song which reflects their steadfast faith and will to emerge victorious with the revolutionary spirit of Paektu.
